

LESSON IN COURTESY FROM LONG ISLAND MAN

Politely Gave Up His Seat to Evening World's Commissioner in a Second Avenue Car, Although He Did Not Know a $10 Prize Awaited Him.

BY CATHERINE KING.

It took less than a minute to find a courteous, unselfish gentleman on the Second Avenue Elevated Railroad train I first tried last night. This will be gratifying news to those who travel on the far east side line, but the little drawback is that last night's winner of The Evening World's courtesy award of $10 was a Long Island City resident.

The man to whom I gave the $10 order in exchange for his seat last night is Mr. W. A. Hollis, of No. 91 East Avenue, Long Island City. Mr. Hollis is thirty-nine years old, married and has three children. His business address is No. 26 Broadway, a place where courtesy is inculcated despite Mr. Thomas Lawson's remarks to the contrary.

I was very much pleased and delighted with the swiftness with which I secured a seat and the sincerity with which it was given. After nights of unrewarded travel on the Eighth Avenue and Third Avenue surface cars and the champagne discourtesy-breeding bridge cars, I was well discouraged when I set out on last night's quest for a gentleman. Imagine then, my pleasure at having my search quickly rewarded.

Waited for Car.

I thought that the Chatham Square station might be the place to try first, but after several partly filled trains had passed I went up to the Canal street station. This was even worse, as many trains made up of discarded subway cars, made that the starting point. I was in despair when a South Ferry train flashed into the station, and in the third car I caught a glimpse of the scene which has become so common to me: women hanging from the straps.

"That's the car I want," was my hasty mental note, and I crowded into the rear door of the car, which was No. 1265, by the way.

Two women and four men stood in the front end of the car. One woman and two men stood between the cross seats. Two men stood in the rear half of the car. A solid row of men sat on the west side of the car, rear half, and Politeness's Roll of Honor.

For over two weeks Catherine King has tested the courtesy of the men of Greater New York in Bridge, Subway, "L" and surface cars and in that time has been given seats by the men here named, each of whom received a $10 prize:

GEORGE E. SCHWIND, married, of No. 107 West one hundred and Twenty-ninth street; Bridge car, Sept. 26.

JOHN H. DARLINGTON, single, teacher, of No. 212 West Fifty-fifth street; Lower Avenue car, Subway, Sept. 27.

E. A. MANNES, single, teacher, of No. 22 Broadway Park; Broadway surface car, Sept. 28.

VINCENZO PAROZZI, married, of No. 212 Grand street; Lower Avenue car, Sept. 29.

CHARLES A. STERNBERGER, married, 35 East Ninety-ninth street; Madison Avenue car, Oct. 2.

Catherine King

Indicated the seat, touched his hat, and as I sank into the place with a murmured "Thank you," he plunged back into the political column of his newspaper.

Astonished Him.

"That's all the notice he gave me until, as we were approaching Lexington square, I rose and held the envelope with the $10 order toward him, telling him what it was for. He looked so astonished and embarrassed that I had to force the envelope into his hand, while he gasped, "I don't understand!"

Then, my suffering sisters, I had the extreme pleasure of hearing the inimitable man before whom I had panted myself and who might have won that $10, grow in explanatory disgust:

"The Evening World—don't you know about it?"

I had to enjoy alone that "stationary" man's night-have-been feelings. Later I learned who the lucky Long Island City man was.

FEAR THIS GIRL IS KIDNAPPED

Hilda Andersen, a Stranger in This Country, Starts to Swedish Home, but Has Not Been Seen Since.

The police have been requested to look for Hilda Andersen, twenty-four years old, who has been living with relatives at No. 187 Momfort place, the Bronx, since her arrival in this country last Saturday. The girl is a Swedish and speaks but little English.

Alvah Carlsson, her cousin, gives this description of the missing girl: Dark hair and complexion, was wearing a brown and white straw hat at the time of her disappearance, black lace shoes and black stockings, dark dress and white waist. The girl is curiously small for her age, being only four feet five inches in height.

On Tuesday last Hilda Andersen went down to the Swedish Immigrant Home to get tidings of some of her people who were on their way to this country. She did not return. Her relatives say that she did not only had the address of the house where she was staying, but that she had the addresses of several friends written upon a piece of paper, so that it lost she should easily be traced. It is feared she is being detained somewhere.

SEES VISIONARY VISITORS NIGHTS

Suffering from Delusion, Man Puts Padlocks on Every Door in His Home—Doctors to Examine Victim.

Suffering with the hallucination that a strange man visited his home nightly John Johansson, forty-five years old, a cabinet-maker living at No. 48 Grand street, Bronx, was to-day taken from Morrisania Court to Bellevue to have his condition examined.

Mrs. Marie Johansson, thirty-eight years old, his wife, told Magistrate Baker that her husband had been bothered with the delusion of nocturnal visitors for the last two and a half years, and that she never before had been able to muster up courage to make public his troubles.

She said that Johansson had purchased padlocks for every door in the house, and that he kept the boys under watch as they went to bed, so that it was impossible for any one to enter or leave the house.

Magistrate Baker sent Johansson downtown in care of Court Officer Neely for an examination.

OUT OF WORK; TRIED TO DIE

Schorhardt Tried in Vain to Obtain a Situation—In Despair Turned on the Gas While Wife Was Absent.

Disheartened by his inability to find work, A. Schorhardt, thirty-eight years old, of No. 200 East Ninetieth street, inhaled illuminating gas last night and was found by his wife in a dangerous condition.

Some time ago he was employed at a well-known German restaurant in Fourteenth street, but lost his place. Since then he has sought work and found none. Yesterday he left his home at 6 in the morning and did not return until 10 o'clock last night. He was tired out and refused to have anything to eat. Thoroughly despondent, he went to bed. About midnight his wife, having finished her work, started to go to their room.

She noticed the odor of gas and found the door locked. Thoroughly alarmed, she ran out of the house, shouting for aid. She could not find a policeman, and called up headquarters.

Policeman Grant was sent to her assistance. He smashed open the door and found Schorhardt lying fully dressed upon the bed. He was unconscious and the room was full of gas.

Dr. Reed, of the Presbyterian Hospital, was called and did what he could before removing the man to the hospital. It is believed that he will recover.

NATIVES DEFEAT GERMAN TROOPS

Hottentots Kill Six. Wound Eight, Take a Number of Prisoners, Then Send Challenge to Kaiser's Commander.

CAPE TOWN, Cape Colony, Oct. 12.—(Morning) and Morris, chiefs of the rebellious Hottentots of German South-west Africa, have captured Jerusalem Camp, between Warmbad and Scout Drift, after severe fighting, during which Lieut. Surmand and five men were killed and eight wounded.

The Hottentots sustained no losses and captured all the stock and stores. Several Germans were made prisoners, but after being disarmed were allowed to return to Lieut. Gen. von Proben, commander of the German forces, with a letter from Morenga, saying that the Hottentots were now in a position to take the offensive and would fight to the finish.

The German garrison at Kilipia, hearing that Morenga was in their vicinity, burned their stores, deserted the post and retired to Doodsonsdam. The garrison at Nkaas has been strengthened by 900 men and a battery of artillery.
